

STEPHENS AND ASSOCIATES REAL ESTATE
6741 Sebastopol Avenue, Suite 100 Sebastopol 829-8890

SERVING ALL OF SONOMA COUNTY SINCE 1986

Pam Stephens knows Sonoma County well, having been born at Palm Drive Hospital and living in Sonoma County all of her life. Her familiarity with the area is an asset in her work as a real estate broker.

Since 1986 she's been working in the Sonoma County real estate community, helping people find the home or property of their dreams. A year ago, she opened her own office at Gravenstein Station in Sebastopol.

Whether you are looking for a home in the city, a country house, a ranch or land, Pam makes sure her prospective buyers and sellers get the real estate answers they need.

Pam's entire business is based on referrals and she prides herself on 100 percent satisfaction of all her clients.

The real estate business is fun and exciting, says Pam and she strives to bring the right information and energy to the process. Pam believes that buying a home should be a fun experience and she pays attention to the details of her work so that her clients always get the best service.

Pam's approach to marketing real estate is very successful. She takes the time to study each piece of property and she develops a marketing strategy that is individually tailored to feature the properties finest points.

With 17 years of experience in the real estate field, her clients feel very confident in her ability to represent them with one of their most important assets.

Pam would be happy to meet with you for a free market analysis.
